of our neighborhoods.

A Grant Could Help Pay for Your Community Project

Community organizations provide much-needed jobs and vital services to the most vulnerable members of our community. Today's economic difficulties create a multitude of funding challenges for non-profits, many of which rely on grant funding.

The California Legislature continues to work on funding opportunities for Californians through grants and supporting public/private partnerships. Local and federal governments, even the courts, are also involved in funding grant opportunities. Private groups are establishing clearinghouses where organizations can get information and begin the on-line application process.

Finding out about grants is challenging, so the State of California has established a website to assist in the search.

www.getgrants.ca.gov provides a database of California state grants as well as links to federal, public and private grant opportunities.

Navigation of www.getgrants.ca.gov is easy.

Simply scroll through the list on the center section of the home page. You may also search by category or topic by clicking the links listed on the left-hand side of the home page. You can also search by keyword by typing one in the box on the right-hand side of the home page.

The CATEGORIES links on the left-hand side of the home page provide access to federal and state grant categories and the TOPICS links will assist you in locating grants by topic such as agriculture, civic affairs, education, health, and social issues, to name a few. There are also icons that will take you to grants with similar subject matter. The earth icon, for example, will take you to a multitude of land-use and conservation grant opportunities.

Following the Related Websites link on the left-hand side of the main menu will lead you to even more grant opportunities, including a link to the federal site, www.Grants.gov, which provides an access point for over 900 grant programs offered by 26 federal grant-making agencies.

The information on the GetGrants website is maintained by the individual Grant Program Managers.

IT'S EASY:
